

ABSTRACT

A recording/reproducing device (10) of a contents recording/reproducing system (100) according to the present invention includes a contents information generating section for fetching a date and time for reproduction of contents data, graphics for changing an expression of a thumbnail image associated with the contents data according to the number of lapsed days since the contents data is reproduced last, and a thumbnail generating section. With the configuration, the recording/reproducing device (10) changes an expression of the thumbnail image according to the number of lapsed days since the date and time when the contents data fetched with the contents information generating section is reproduced. Because of the configuration, a user can easily recognizes the number of lapsed days since the contents data is reproduced last from an expression of the thumbnail image.